CIRCLE CHURCH

Anthony Lyder

"Let's do this thing!", senior theology major Anthony Lyder remembers agreeing with some friends at the beginning of his college career. Largely a group of other theology majors, they had been meeting for some time in a circle after Friday night vespers: worshiping, praying, and listening to the Word. That gathering has now evolved into Circle Church, which begins its fourth year of operation October 10.

Over the years since, new students have stepped up to take their places in leadership. Matthew Burghart, a sophomore theology major is the community's second student pastor along with Anthony. His heart stirs when he thinks about people connecting, opening up, and understanding one another. For fall quarter, Circle Church's theme is 'connections': building relationships and activating faith to serve others.

The University Church is excited to welcome this student-led community into our very own Fellowship Hall on Sabbath mornings this year 10:30-11:30am. Anthony and Matthew offer an open and warm invitation to everyone to join them. Circle Church is ubiquitous with welcoming all people to the table regardless of age or history, church affiliation or experience, maturity or mood.

MUSIC NOTE

We welcome this year's edition of the small choir, I Cantori of Walla Walla University. Please join me in thanking these hard-working students who give of their talents and time to serve God through music. We also thank the two accompanists, Frankie Bones, piano, and Ariana Parks, organ. We also thank the week of worship band who have ministered to us on campus all week long.

The organ postlude directly repeats a short melodic idea for a very specific reason. The word "litanies" refers to a special type of prayer that repeats a refrain or petition over and over, Psalm 136 provides a good example. The composer Jehan Alain (1911-1940), who died in the French resistance of World War II, appended the following words to this piece.

When the Christian soul in its distress cannot find words to implore God's mercy, it repeats ceaselessly and with a vehement faith the same invocation. Reason has reached its limit. Faith alone can go further.

May we each, in the stunningly powerful sounds of this repetitive piece, perceive the strength and power of our wonderful Lord who promises to be with us even in the shadows and valleys of our life. May we choose always to have the guts to believe!

The two anthems present well-loved texts - Matthew 21:9 and John 3:16-17. As you prepare to worship, please take some quiet time to reflect on these texts or the words of our hymns.
